Red Mountain's expertise as a dance band has garnered them invitations to dance festivals across the country, where they dip into their large repertoire of powerful contra dance medleys and driving square dance tunes. Often described as a wall of sound, Red Mountain's components are: Jim Cauthen on fiddle, Joyce Cauthen on guitar, Phil Foster on mandolin, Jamie Finley on harmonica and banjo uke, Bill Martin on autoharp, and Nancy Jackson on bass.

Frederick Park has been collecting and sharing traditional dances for more than 35 years. As an internationally known teacher, choreographer, dance historian, and storyteller, he has performed and taught at most every major dance festival in America. His dance list ranges far and wide through many formations, drawing on sources from his native Southern mountains across the continent and the Atlantic.

Be prepared for some serious fun with this pairing!
